

HOW MUCH BETTER COULD YOU FEEL?

If you experience symptoms such as wheeze, cough or shortness of breath, you may have asthma, or your asthma might not be well controlled.

These symptoms are usually due to inflammation inside your lungs. FeNO testing measures inflammation of the airways, so your doctor can better diagnose and treat you.

FeNO testing is safe and can be done by patients from the age of seven. The test is quick and really easy to do - it feels just like blowing bubbles in a drink. Your score will show up on the testing device in less than two minutes right there at your appointment.

By simply taking a FeNO test, you have a higher chance of receiving the right diagnosis and treatment, to reduce symptoms and asthma attacks. This means that you will feel better!
